About us

Taradale Cottage was christened after the illustrious Aristocrat & Diplomat Major General 'Tara' Singh Bal, and belongs to his second generation descendants. The quaint Cottage lies in the sleepy hamlet of Ramgarh in the north-eastern part of the Kumaon region of the Himalayas, and is situated in a peaceful spot overlooking tree covered slopes and a verdant green valley or “Dale” from which it derives the latter half of its name. The Cottage is reminiscent of the summer houses built during the British Raj. The grey & white stucco façade, slanting tin roofs, bay windows, conservatory, verandas & balconies replete with delicate Victorian trims lend an old world charm to this home away from home. A quaint attic is amongst the 6 well-appointed bedrooms with en-suit bathrooms and modern comforts. The uniqueness of the accommodation is that none of the rooms are generic in nature. The attention to detail, use of curiosities and interiors done in cheerful colours lend an individual character to the rooms and exude an overall Colonial air.

Our Philosophy

Taradale Cottage is a small "home away from home" property, set amidst a secluded natural environment and provides an old world charm & architecture. Our philosophy is to offer a unique warm, intimate and informal homely ambience, without compromising on comfort, service, hygiene & food quality, whilst employing local talent and endeavouring to be a green & sustainable hotel. We are not a generic star hotel. Our location is off the road and is accessible by a brief walk, which adds to the serenity of our property.

Dining

Simple but delectable Indian & Continental cuisines are served along with a smattering of traditional Kumaoni specialities. All meals are served Buffet style and we currently do not offer an Al-a-carte menu. An all-day snacks menu can also be whipped up at short notice. Visiting Guests are more than welcome for meals with advance bookings. We do not serve Liquor but provide aerated drinks & beverages.
